AUTISM INTERVENTION SUMMIT DAY TUESDAY MAY 2, 2017 (8:30 a.m.–4:30 p.m.)

This summit is a unique opportunity to understand in one day how different interventions tackle the developmental and learning challenges of Autism. Learn how various educational, clinical and parent-mediated research based models are implemented including DIR, ESDM, JASPER, Verbal Behavior, NEST, and Special Education. Find the answers to addressing the core deficits of autism to help children form relationships and friendships, communicate, regulate behavior, play and develop the skills they need for a meaningful future. Enjoy over 25 speakers and more than 15 presentations on this day!

Special Registration Fee: Early Bird $175 until 4/7/17, After Early Bird $225. This fee is independent of any conference fee. You may register for this day instead of, or in addition to, the conference. Group discount applies.

Yes, I will attend this Full Day Event, Tuesday 5/2/17 (8:30 a.m.–4:30 p.m.)

HALF-DAY WORKSHOP TUESDAY MAY 2, 2017 (9:00 a.m.–12:00 p.m.)

THE NEURONET LEARNING PROGRAM: The Neuroscience Behind Movement-Based Learning — Nancy Rowe, MS

During a child's formative years, the strongest emphasis should be placed on activities that promote both cognitive and motor development. This presentation will provide an overview of the neuroscience behind movement-based learning and the neurological process that takes place in the brain as children develop fluency in basic academic skills. Participants will receive access to 2 software programs—PreK and Program Level 0—in addition to iPad assessments. These programs contain 160 days of unique movement-based learning activities that can be used to develop motor and cognitive skills as well as fluency in early literacy, math, and handwriting skills.

Special Registration Fee: $195. This fee is independent of any conference fee. You may register for this day instead of, or in addition to, the conference.

Yes, I will attend this Pre-Conference Half Day Workshop
